STOCKS WERE MORE ACTIVE.

Good Weather in the West and Other Causes Stimulated Movements.

BEARS WERE LESS AGGRESSIVE.

Market Showed Some Stagnation, but the General Tendency was Upward. Some Buying on Foreign Account,-Bonds Stronger.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Good weather in the West, the landing of a considerable part of the American army near Santiago, and firmness in London acted as a stimulus in to-day's stock market. The persistent drives by the bears against special stocks, which wa a feature of the trading for ome time, was lacking to day. The grangers received more attention than for a long time, and conspicuous advances were registered in Burlington and Rock Island. The market at intervals during the day displayed stagmation, but prices nevertheless forged constantly upward. Operations for arbitrage account were in fairly large volume, and included sales of most of the international favorites. The offerings from this source, however, were well absorbed, and the steadiness of the local speculation induced some purchases for foreign account, mainly in St. Paul. A development which has been regarded with considerable gratification by substantial interests has been the growing expansion in railway and miscellaneous bond operations, which in a measure reflects the general healthful tone of the finances. Operations in this department embraced an extensive variety of mortgages, with demand for the issues of reorganized properties exceptionally heavy. The aggregate transactions were $5.080,000. Government issues also participated in the general strength, the old 4's, registered, improving ½ per cent, and old 4's, coupon, and the new 4's ½ each on cail.
